A real estate agency was looking for an upscale housewarming gift to give to their clients after closing on their new homes. They wanted a gift that included items the recipients could use in their living spaces, plus a sweet treat or two to commemorate the occasion. The Sweet Retreat kit fit the bill with its cozy sherpa blanket, wine tumbler, and artisanal treats. Clients loved receiving cozy accessories for their homes. The agency enjoyed knowing the branded items would help them stay top-of-mind for future referrals.
